SUNDAY, AUGUST 17, 1879.

A MISTAKE.

In refusing to adopt alderman Burrier's amendment to the tax bill Friday night, the Board of Aldermen made, in our opinion, a grave mistake. We are no advocate of high taxes unless they are necessary, but it is clear that the city can not meet pressing obligations with the rates of taxation adopted. We have a large floating debt, amounting to about seventy-six thousand dollars. For some time past the interest on our city larged out, and are mostly well armed." We have heard something like this before. It is an idle threat, and is not worthy of serious consideration. Rebellion is time past the interest on our city bonds has not been paid promptly and a large proportion of it not at all.

There is no reason on earth why the gradit of Knowille should be believed to a local trial and convicted of a l the credit of Knoxville should be killer, Freeman, who is immured in a ments for many years, and the city ought not to owe a dollar outside of the bonded indebtedness. All necessary and resonable expenditures could be easily met with a reasona- to be fraudulently retained by Cannon, ble tax. It is a disgrace to the city that our teachers are often compelled to discount their warrants for money to live upon, the city employees compelled to take depreciated city scrip for their wages, and the interest on the bonded debt goes unpaid in many instances until suit is brought and payment enforced. With a tax of one dollar on the hundred the city receipts and expenditures for the year may be put down as follaws:

Mormonism has for a long time been an offensive ulcer on our social system, and we believe in vigorous measures to remove it. "It is reported from Washington that Delegate Cannon, who is now in prison on the charge of robbing the estate of the late Brigham Young, has declared that the intention of the fraudulent Administration to punish offenders against the law of 1862 for past offenses smacks so strongly of persecution that the people might rebel. If Mr. Cannon said this, he has lost the cunning for which has been justly famed. No twaddle about a "fraudulent" Administration" will blind the American Administration" will blind the American people to the real importance of the issue which the Mormons have forced upon the country. It was a Democratic President, James Buchanan, who sent an army against the rebellious Mormons, in 1857, under the command of Albert Sidney Johnston. Then, as now, the Mormons vapored a great deal concerning their destructive intentions, and Brigham Young folminated against Johnston's army, forbidding it to enter Utah. Nevertheless, the heads of the mush. room rebellion accepted amnesty by surrendering themselves to Federal authority; and the army remained in Utah until May, 1860, the Mormons, meantime, though chafing under restraint, being as docile as so many stall-fed cattle. They boasted themselves of the money they made by supplying stores to the army of occupation.
"The new grievances of the Mormons are the conviction and imprisonment of Reynolds for polygamy, the murder of Standing, the Mormon apostle, and the imprisonment of nolds was tried and convicted of a

The imprisonment of Mr. Cannon is at the instance of certain of Brigham Young's heirs, who, > have had him sent to jail, the suit having gone against him.

> "All good citizens will rejoice that the Mormon hirearchies are restive and troubled. The offensive ulcer which they have so long cultivated must be removed, sooner or later. We have not much faith in the efficacy of diplomatic circulars sent forth to invoke the aid of foreign Governments in drying up the channels by which Mormonism is largely fed from abroad. The assassination of a Mormon missionary by Georgia ruffians, and the imprisonment of a Mormon dignitary on a civil suit have nothing whatever to do with the attitude of the Government toward the insolent bigamist of Utah Territory. But the laws of the United States must be enforced in that Territory, just as they are in Arizona or Idaho. The law of 1862 is merely a re-enactment into a United States statute of the common law against bigamy. To say that its enforcement is prosecution is the wildest folly. And to plead that a religious belief sanctions concubinage, and, therefore, exempts the offender, is to an argument in the mouths of any who may object to the laws of any civilized community, and who urge the rights of conscience in extenuation. The fight against the practices of Mormonism is not a new one. The com-plaint that the Mormons will be compelled to abandon one feature of their religion or to fight is well-grounded. They must accept the alternative seoner or later.

The sentiments here expressed will be endorsed generally. It is Thus it will be seen that upon no persecution of any people to en-Of take the consequences. They will, amous practices without resistance, but if they resist, that is no reason
